

Pieter Depuydt trained as a pulmonologist and intensive care physician and is currently staff member at the Intensive Care Unit (ICU) of Ghent University Hospital and Associate Professor in Internal Medicine and Pediatrics at Ghent University. His research interests are severe acute respiratory infections, nosocomial infection and rational use of antibiotics in the ICU.